Numbers Employed in Occupations.

A preliminary examination of the Tables of Occupations shows that, at the present Census, out of a total population of 4,025,647 (Males 1,942,717, Females 2,082,930), there are 1,776,952, or 44·14 per cent., returned as being engaged in some form of work. The Male workers number 1,220,388, or 62·82 per cent. of them are occupied; the Female number 556,564, or 26·72 per cent. of them are in a similar position. In 1881, out of a total population of 3,735,573, there were 1,606,984 Persons, or 43·02 per cent. of the Inhabitants at work. The Male workers alone were 1,108,713 out of a Male population of 1,799,475, i.e., 61·61 per cent.; and the Female workers were 498,271, their total sex numbering 1,936,098, i.e., 25·74 per cent., were doing something. Table LII. gives the number of Persons following each Class of Occupation, 1881 and 1891, with the percentage of each Class to the total population at each of these periods.

On looking at the number and proportion of Males and Females in each Class of Occupation, it is seen that on the present occasion, in all cases except the Males in the Domestic Class and the Females in the Agricultural, there is an increase in the number, most marked in the case of the Females in the Commercial Class, who are nearly double in number what they were at 1881. The proportions of each sex to the total of the same show a decrease in the Males in the Domestic Class, and in both sexes in the Agricultural and Unoccupied Classes. Tables LIX. and LX.

The Professional Class at the present Census contains 75,532 Males and 35,787 Females, together forming 2·76 per cent. of the total population. At the 1881 Census the Males numbered 65,499 and the Females 30,604, or 2·57 per cent. of the total population of Scotland.

In the Domestic Class at 1891 there are 13,102 Males and 190,051 Females, forming 5·05 per cent. of the population; in 1881 they numbered 25,292 Males and 151,273 Females, or 4·73 per cent. of the population.

Those occupied in the Commercial Class at 1891 are 170,676 Males and 10,276 Females, together forming 4·49 per cent. of the population; in 1881 the sexes were 126,743 and 5383 respectively, together equal to 3·54 per cent. of the population. The increase occurs in both sexes, but most markedly so, as just stated, in the case of the Females, there being at the present time 493 in every 100,000 of the Female population of Scotland as against 278 in 1881 thus employed.

In the Agricultural Class, in 1891, 219,042 Males and 30,082 Females are engaged, together equivalent to 6·19 per 100 of the population; at 1881, the Males numbered 215,215 and the Females 54,322, together equal to 7·21 per 100 of the population. The sexes together on this occasion indicate a fall in number of 20,413, but this is entirely among the Females, there being a small absolute increase of 3827 in the number of Males thus occupied.

The numbers finding a living in the Great Industrial Class of Occupations are at the present Census 742,036 Males and 290,368 Females, conjointly forming 25·65 per cent. of the total population; at 1881 they stood 675,964 and 256,689 respectively as to sex, being at the rate of 24·97 per cent. of the population. The total increase in this Class at the present as compared with the last Census is 99,753 persons.

In Class VI., the Unoccupied and Non-Productive, there are at the 1891 Census 722,329 Males and 1,526,366 Females, together forming 55·86 per cent. of the total population; at 1881 they were 690,762 of the former sex and 1,437,827 of the latter, together forming 56·98 per cent. of the whole population. The total increase under this heading during the 10 years is 120,106.

Employers, Employed, &c.

On the present occasion, for the first time, the numbers of those engaged in any of the Occupations are given, according as they are Employers, Employed, Working on their own account, or are Neither, or of whom No Statement is made, and that for Scotland, for each County, and for those Towns having a population of 10,000 and upwards. Those numbers are given in Tables LXII. and LXIII., in the former of which we have the numbers for Scotland, and each County, for both Males and Females; and it suffices to say that, for the country as a whole, and in accordance with the note appended to the Table, the number of Male employers is 56,589; of employed, 505,323; of those working on their own account, 48,881; and of neither, 12,666. While of the Females 7316 are employers; 210,716 are employed; 37,914 are working on their own account; and 5159 are neither.

In Table LXIII. like information as to the Burghs is given, the number of Male employers in those being 28,674; of employed, 338,691; of those working on their own account, 14,094; and of neither, 6012. In the case of the Females the employers number 4346; the employed, 150,831; those working on their own account, 14,730; and neither, 2496. For further information on this head, vide Sect. XV., p. 505.

Table LIX. gives, for Scotland and for the several Counties, the number of either sex who are occupied in each of the Six Classes into which the Occupations are divided; while Table LX. shows how these same are distributed, the percentage of the Classes being given as they occur in each County to the total in each Class; and Table LXI. indicates the relative distribution of each Class in each County, and in all cases for the sexes separately. More full information as to the numbers following each Class, Order, and Sub-Order of Occupation in the several Counties and Burghs in Scotland will be found in Sect. XV., p. 1 et seq.

Students.

Tables LV. and LVI. are intended to show the number and proportion of 'Students,' or those over 15 years of age, who are in receipt of Education in Scotland, in each County, and in those Burghs with a population of 10,000 and over, being a continuance of Tables XLII. and XLIII. of Part I. of this same Volume in which 'Scholars,' or those under 15 years of age, in like manner circumstanced, are dealt with. For fuller information on this head, vide Sect. XV., p. 1 et seq.

Table LIII. shows the number of Persons working in Wool, in Cotton and Flax, in Hemp and Jute, at Coal Mining, Ironstone Mining, and Shipbuilding in the various Counties of Scotland. Among these industries, workers in Wool stand pre-eminently forward in the Counties of Selkirk, Roxburgh, Shetland (chiefly Females), Inverness, and Dumfries; a large number also appearing in Lanark and Ayr. Cotton and Flax gives occupation to a number of the Inhabitants in the Counties of Forfar, Lanark, Renfrew, Fife, Dumbarton, Ayr, and Aberdeen; while the Hemp and Jute industry bulks in far the largest degree in Forfarshire, and to a less extent in Lanark, Perth, and Fife shires. Coal Mining affords employment to the largest number of Persons in Lanark, Ayr, Fife, and Edinburgh shires; while Ironstone Mining does not stand high in any County on this occasion, the largest number of Persons so employed being found in Ayrshire and Lanarkshire.

On comparing these latter numbers with the corresponding at the 1881 Census, we find there is a great falling off at the present Census in the number of those returned as Ironstone Miners in the Counties just mentioned, as also in those of Linlithgow, Renfrew, and Dumbarton; while there is a great increase in the number of Coal Miners at the present, as compared with last Census, in the Counties of Lanark, Ayr, Linlithgow, Edinburgh, and Fife.

Shipbuilding is most in evidence in the Counties of Lanark, Renfrew, Dumbarton, Forfar, Aberdeen, and Edinburgh.

estic Ser-

Table LIV. indicates the number of those returned as Domestic Servants in the Counties and Burghs of Scotland, with their relative proportion per 100 to the total population of the same. The large proportion of those, in some of the Northern Counties especially, may be accounted for by many of the heads of families living in small cottages having returned their daughters under this heading. Among the Burghs the highest proportion of Domestics occurs in Edinburgh, where in every 100 of the Inhabitants 8·61 are so designated, followed by Ayr with 6·32, Dumfries with 6·27, and Stirling with 6·17 per 100—the lowest ratios occurring in Clydebank, 2·57 per 100; Forfar, 2·49; Motherwell, 2·40; Dunfermline, 2·26; Hawick, 2·30; Govan, 2·29; Port-Glasgow, 2·03; and Dysart, 1·97 per 100.

OCCUPATIONS OF THE BLIND.

In Section XV., p. 505, which, among other things, gives a Summary of the Occupations (either present or former) of the Blind, it is found that of the total 1417 Males and 1380 Females, 98 of the former and 26 of the latter sex are in Class I., PROFESSIONAL; 3 Males and 30 Females are in Class II., DOMESTIC; 32 Males and 1 Female are in Class III., COMMERCIAL; 67 Males and 17 Females are in Class IV., AGRICULTURAL; 475 Males and 147 Females are in Class V., INDUSTRIAL; and 742 Males and 1159 Females are found in Class VI., UNOCCUPIED and NON-PRODUCTIVE. In conclusion, we would beg to mention, in connection with the duties now ended, that for some time previous to the 5th April, the date appointed for the taking of the Census in 1891, the General Staff in the Office of the Registrar-General was much employed in making the preliminary arrangements necessary for the carrying out of the project, and which were of a very arduous nature. These were, however, successfully accomplished, and it is to the excellent work then executed we attribute in no small degree the smoothness and regularity with which the general work has been carried out. As a rule, the Householders' Schedules were returned properly filled up—an indication that the intelligence and goodwill of the people of Scotland were enlisted in assisting to the proper carrying out of the Enumeration of the Inhabitants, and in affording information on the various points asked concerning each individual.

To the General Census Staff we offer our thanks for their assistance and labour, and especially to Messrs Ralph and Slater, the Superintendents, upon the former of whom—after the promotion of the latter—a large portion of the duties devolved, and who ever threw himself into the work with great ability, intelligence, and assiduity.

We have the honour to be,

SIR,

Your most obedient Servants,

STAIR AGNEW,

Registrar-General.

R. J. BLAIR CUNYNGHAME, M.D.
